About Graz

The Mediterranean atmosphere of the Old Town, hidden alleys, picturesque courtyards, ornate facades, magnificent buildings and spectacular and futuristic modern architecture all add up to a unique and fascinating blend. The city's event calendar regularly features an abundance of international standard cultural events.

You will hardly find another city offering so much variety in such a compact and manageable space. Nowhere else can one stroll around in such a pleasurable way without getting lost. It may well have been just the penchant for diversity and vision that in 2003 made Graz the Cultural Capital of Europe.
